

Topics in Conservation Paleobiology and Historical Ecology

We study modern marine environments and their young fossil record. We combine methods from ecology and paleontology to define community baselines needed for differentiating anthropogenic impacts from natural variability. Our aim is to set realistic targets for the restoration of disturbed ecosystems.

Mediterranean
seagrass ecosystems

Arctic
seamounts

Mediterranean
soft bottoms

For details and available topics contact Martin Zuschin martin.zuschin@univie.ac.at

Further information is also available on our website <https://conspal.univie.ac.at>